

Expectations

In fourth grade, we stress test taking skills, organizational skills, and the student's responsibility for their own learning. Completing assignments and turning them in on time is a priority. We value parent support and welcome their help. Nightly reading is required of all students. Appropriate behavior and respect for others are expected.

Our students will be reading a variety of text, writing extensively, working in textbooks and cooperative small groups, and performing activities that involve the multiple intelligences.

Over the Summer:

- Addition, subtraction, and multiplication facts should be memorized.
- Practice cursive handwriting.
- Read books at your grade level.

Parent-Teacher Communication

For the 2019 -2020 school year, all students will be required to use an Enchanted Hills Student Planner. This will help students improve their organization and take responsibility for assignments. It is also a tool for parent-teacher communication.

Other methods of communication may include periodic letters, newsletters, and the school webpage.

Homework Policy

The staff at Enchanted Hills believes that regularly scheduled homework is an integral component of the educational program and can have a positive impact on student achievement. Homework should be an extension of the work done in the classroom and benefit the student by providing extra practice and reinforcement of concepts/skills learned.

Fourth graders will have approximately 40 minutes of homework each night. This is in addition to the 20 minutes of required nightly reading.

Regularly scheduled homework must be turned in the next day. For large, long-term assignments, the work must be in on time to receive full credit. Such assignments will be accepted late, but will receive one grade lower than the grade given each day the assignment is late. The purpose of these policies is to develop responsibility in students for turning in their work on time.
